

Wow Day!

ALIENS LOVE UNDERPANTS!

Monday 28th January 2019

Dear Parents,

On Thursday 14th February we are inviting the children in Blossom class to come into school dressed as aliens in underpants for our farewell party to the aliens. (See 'Aliens love Underpants' story.) Please support your child to decorate a pair of old shorts or trousers and wear these into school that day. They should have lots of ideas! As an added incentive there will be a small prize for the child with the most creatively decorated pair of underpants.

During our party we will be having some jelly which the aliens love! We will also be making and eating jam sandwiches during the last two weeks of term. Please let us know if your child might be allergic to any of the ingredients and we will try to arrange an alternative for them. The children will be making the jelly themselves as part of our science focus earlier in the week.

Other exciting activities happening during our Wow Day include making rubber band rockets to send the aliens home, parachute games and other alien party games if time allows!

We look forward to seeing your creations – I'm sure they will put ours to shame!

Yours sincerely,

Diane McDowall
